

AVP Virtual & Hybrid Meeting Services

The transition from an in-person meeting to streaming virtual on-demand events can be a challenging experience for even the most seasoned event management teams. AVP's Virtual & Hybrid Meeting Services can provide you & your organization with a professional, on-brand technical solution to help deliver your intended message and bring your virtual meetings to life. Remote meetings, if thoughtfully planned can achieve powerful results and help maintain the human connection. Whether you are using our cloud-based streaming platform or another popular web conferencing option, our dedicated team of Project Managers and Solutions Architects can help produce a high-quality, broadcast grade virtual experience for you and your guests. We help eliminate the technical guesswork, production, and management concerns that are often associated with online communication & collaboration. By eliminating these concerns, we provide the peace-of-mind that allows you & your team to focus on what is most important: your message. Our experienced professionals are committed to the flawless execution & subsequent success of every event we produce in this new digital world.
